Social Security Number (SSN)

Two provisions of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, now part of the Internal Revenue Code, make it necessary for you to record your SSN in #7.

Section 25A provides for Hope and Lifetime Learning Credits, which allow persons enrolled in higher education classes to use part of their tuition payments as credits against their taxes. The information you provide on IRS Form W-9S will determine whether you, or the person who can claim you as a dependent, may take the Hope Credit or Lifetime Learning Credit to reduce Federal income tax.

Section 6050S requires educational institutions, including the UW, to file certain information with the IRS about each individual from whom it receives tuition. The UW's "return" must show for each student the correct SSN (or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number [ITIN] if the student is not eligible to obtain a SSN).

www.washington.edu/students/sfs/sao/taxcredits.html

UW's Use of the SSN

At the UW, your SSN is used to match your admission test scores with your application and to match your financial aid application with your admission application. To avoid complications and a delay in financial aid notification, make sure your name and SSN are identical on the financial aid and admission applications.

SSNs are not used for student identification; you will be assigned a UW student number once admitted.

Your SSN and other information from your application may be provided to educational research agencies for the purpose of conducting research and analysis related to Washington State higher education. Protecting the release of student information will be in accordance with all appropriate state and federal laws.
